Female Check Artist In City

The woman who passed bogus checks in Lebanon and who was said to have been using FBI credentials, was believed to have been in Greencastle Tuesday morning.

A woman answering her description, was refused cash on checks in some of the local stores during the morning.

Four Lebanon stores the woman presented what appeared to be FBI identification cards, bearing a photograph and signatures. She took the merchandise at each place and pocketed the balance of each check in cash, police said.

It was reported at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon that city police had picked up a woman thought to be the one who had attempted to cash checks. Whether she was the one wanted in Lebanon or whether the checks were good, was not determined by The Daily Banner early this afternoon.

The woman was picked up in Coan's Drug Store. She had cashed one check at Ralph Knolls buying a clock and taking her change. She had the clock when arrested.

The woman told several stories and denied that she was the one in Lebanon, but she had the same type checks and some supposedly FBI identification papers. She said she was out of Indianapolis, but at two o'clock the police did not have her name nor had they searched her for further identification papers.

Takes Fire To Waiting Firemen

Roy White, local trash trucker, had a thrill Monday afternoon when he discovered a truck load of paper and other things he was hauling on east Washington street was on fire.

He made a "fire-run" to the fire department. Everyone he met tried to stop him to tell him of the truck fire, but Roy knew of the fire and was taking it to the fire department which was waiting as someone had telephoned an alarm in that a truck was on fire. The firemen did not know where to go until White hove into sight and they soon made quick work of the blaze, but not before Roy left the truck cab like a squirrel going out of a treehole. The fire was soon under control and no damage was done, except to those who expected the gas tank on the truck to "blow" any second. Their frame of mind was soon quieted and Roy went about his duties as though nothing had taken place. It was the third truck fire he has experienced in the past several months. However, this was the first time he was able to take the fire to the waiting firemen. On the other occasions, they made the run to his truck.

NEGOTIATIONS RE-OPENED IN FORD STRIKE

COMPANY AND CIO OFFICIALS MEET TO SEEK SETTLEMENT

DETROIT, May 10.—(UP)—Ford Motor Company and CIO officials meet today to attempt settlement of a six-day-old strike against two key Ford plants that will idle a total of 83,000 workers by tonight.

Reopening of negotiations came as Ford scheduled immediate shutdowns of 11 assembly lines, with the remaining eight to close by next Monday.

Henry Ford II, youthful head of the company, accepted a union offer to reopen peace talks which were cut short last Thursday when 62,200 United Auto Workers struck at Ford's River Rouge and Lincoln-Mercury plants.

In his bid to reopen negotiations Walter Reuther, president of UAW, asked Ford to lead the company negotiating team personally.

Ford declined the invitation, but said "we will be happy to meet with you at 1 p. m. (CST)." Reuther referred to a letter the Ford president wrote to striking workers last week, in which he said the walkout was "unnecessary."

"Since your letter expresses concern for the Ford Workers, we would like to suggest that you assume your personal obligations to participate in negotiations."

"This will also afford you the opportunity," Reuther said, "of being apprised of all facts in the situation, which obviously you do not have."

Ford said John Bugas, vice-president in charge of industrial relations who led previous peace efforts, would conduct company negotiations with the "full support and backing of the management."

Locals 600 and 190 of the UAW struck the two plants last Thursday, charging the company with speeding up assembly lines at the risk of the "health and safety" of workers. The company denied any speeding.

The strike at the heart of the Ford empire has shut down several small Ford plants, and caused layoffs among the 3,500 major supplier firms to the multi-billion dollar Ford auto business.

The company's tractor division at Highland Park, Mich., which makes one-fifth of the wheel-type tractors in the nation, will close tonight.

Reuther also proposed that if no settlement is reached before Friday that Briggs stadium be reserved for a debate before all affected Ford Workers on disputed issues.

Ford turned down the suggestion.

"I do not agree that anything useful can be accomplished by a public debate on this matter," he said.

"The issues in this strike must be resolved on their merits and by the conscientious efforts of the bargaining table by both parties," he said.

Reuther had accepted the offer of civic officials to mediate the dispute, but the company refused. It said "technical" questions were involved, and that the contract provided for arbitration if direct negotiations failed.

DPU Gets $1000 For Scholarship

The scholarship will be granted to a junior or senior man who is majoring in economics.

PRIZES IN POLICE PISTOL SHOOT

STATE POLICE PISTOL SHOOT ON MAY 18-19

The inter-post shoot of the Indiana State police will be held at the range of the Putnamville Post next Wednesday and Thursday. The prize will be a five target pistols shown above, the gift of the Indiana Ford Dealers Association.

But few of the Indiana Police crack shots own their own guns and none of the Post own their guns, thus the gift of the Ford Dealers of Indiana. The plan will be to continue the gifts each year until all Posts have won the target pistols, as no team will be eligible after winning a contest.

Arthur Thurston, superintendent of the Indiana State Police will be awarded the gift on behalf of the Ford Dealers. William Graham of Bloomington, president, Gov. Henry F. Schricker and numerous state officials are expected to attend the meeting.

A feature of the Thursday gathering will be a meeting of the Ford Dealers at the Indiana State Farm. They will be guests of J. D. McLean of the local agency at luncheon and will inspect the farm, hold their meeting and then witness the finals of the shoot at the Post Range immediately east of the barracks.

The guns have been suitably engraved by C. B. Hammond. They will bear the lettering that they have been a gift from the Indiana Ford Dealers Association to the winning Post shooter.

Oregon Lawyer Kills Wife, Self

THE DALLES, Ore., May 10.—(UP)—Frank G. Dick, 64, one of Oregon's most prominent attorneys, killed his wife and then drove drunkenly toward central Oregon before committing suicide 12 hours later, police said today.

Authorities, piecing together the evidence of the tragedy, said Dick apparently shot his wife, Beulah, 48, with a .38 caliber revolver in their home here early yesterday.

A few hours later, the distinguished lawyer was arrested at Dufur, Ore., 20 miles south of The Dalles, on a charge of drunk driving. City policeman Del Does said Dick was taken into custody, booked, and released on bail.

Dick tried to telephone Police Chief M. E. Cloe here but the chief was out of his office and an assistant took the call.

Eventually, word reached Dick's son, William, a law associate, that his father had tried to contact the police department.

William became alarmed and rushed to the Dick home. He found his father dying of a bullet wound in the head. In the bedroom, he found the body of his step-mother. She had been dead at least 12 hours.

It is alleged that the two defendants went to the Alexander home about 1 o'clock Sunday morning. An altercation resulted which culminated in the assault and battery charges.

Comer and Morlan were arrested by Sheriff John Sutherland and Victor Cue, deputy sheriff.

The AFL affiliated American Federation of Teachers voted unanimously last night to stop instruction unless the school board reveals next year's proposed salaries.

"We've been getting the run-around from the school board on pay demands," Local President William P. Swan said.

VIENNA, May 10.—(INS)—Some 5000 Soviet zone factory workers staged a brief demonstration in Vienna today against low wages.

CHINESE REDS ARE ENCIRCLING CITY OF HANKOW

DEFENDING TROOPS FLEE BEFORE ADVANCING ATTACKERS

SHANGHAI, May 10.—(UP)—Press reports from central China said today that Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi, commander of the Hankow garrison, has begun a retreat with his 300,000 Nationalist troops southward to avoid being trapped by the Communists.

Shanghai garrison headquarters admitted Communist troops on the Yangtze launched an attack toward Hankow from the north while another Communist column was threatening to cut off the garrison's escape railroad to the south.

Reports relayed through Hong Kong said all civilian passenger traffic on the rail line from Hankow south was stopped yesterday to make way for the military.

All foreigners in the area, including Americans, now must seek their escape southward by means of a single tortuous highway.

Gen. Pai also ordered all Nationalist steamships and junks in the Hankow area to leave by tomorrow. Since the Communists control the Yangtze downstream, the ships will have to flee upriver toward Chungking.

The two Chinese airlines serving Hankow withdrew all their personnel yesterday.

Although the attack from the north threatened Hankow most directly, the most serious threat was the danger of being cut off by the Communist drive westward along the Chekiang-Kiangsi rail line some 160 miles to the southeast.

At last reports the Communists were approaching within striking distance of Nanchang, some 150 miles west of the Hankow-Canton rail line. Should Nanchang fall, the line would be in imminent danger.

Seek Motive In Girl's Murder

ROANOKE, Va., May 10.—(UP)—Absence of a logical motive today stymied the search for the merciless killer of lovely Blonde Dana Marie Weaver, 16-year-old high school senior who was found beaten and strangled in a church parish house here yesterday.

Police admitted they were up against a blank wall. Questioning of at least six teen-aged friends of the dead girl produced little information.

Police Supt. S. A. Bruce said he was inclined to believe that the girl surprised an intruder when she entered the Christ Church Sunday night, looking for a meeting of the youth service league.

There have been several robberies in the Episcopal Church in recent months, Bruce said. Nothing was reported missing this time, however.

The violence of the attack and other circumstances surrounding the girl's death also appeared at odds with this theory, officers admitted.

Dana was found early yesterday by Alex Roland, the Church's negro janitor. Her bruised, beaten body lay in a pool of blood in the Parish house kitchen on the second floor, wedged against the lower half of a Dutch door.

Coroner Charles M. Irvin said she had been kicked brutally in the face and legs, apparently after she had fallen to the floor. Fingernails were ripped from her slender hands. Her throat and body were blotched with ugly bruises.

She was fully dressed in a neat gray suit and Irvin said after an inquest that she had not been raped.

EXTRA!

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(INS)—Mrs. Lou Gehrig, widow of baseball's valiant "Iron Man," asked Congress today to approve federal aid in the fight against the paralyzing disease that killed her husband.

Mrs. Gehrig testified before a Senate subcommittee in support of a bill authorizing a blanket federal appropriation to speed basic research in multiple sclerosis.

The attractive widow of the New York Yankees first baseman who was cut down in his baseball prime told the senators: "These diseases do not attack the aged and infirm as a general rule. Their victims are young, vigorous people who normally would have many years of useful, productive life ahead of them."

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(INS)—The House voted today to turn over to the Justice Department the famous "pumpkin films" found in the possession of ex-Communist Whittaker Chambers.

The action was taken at the request of the House Un-American Activities Committee. Rep. Wood, Georgia Democrat, its chairman, explained that the Justice Department asked for the microfilms for use in the forthcoming perjury trial of Alger Hiss, former State Department official.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(INS)—A defense claim that "revenge" and "anger" set the FBI on the trail of Judith Coplon and Russian Engineer Valentin Gubitchev was hinted today at the ex-government girl's spy trial.

The defense also implied that the claims may be tied in with the contention that the interest Miss Coplon and Gubitchev had in each other was based on love, not espionage.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(INS)—Southern Democrats are stirred up angrily today over the reported slur cast on the name of Sen. Byrd, Virginia Democrat by President Truman.

The flareup started when a group of war veterans, leaving the White House, quoted the president as saying "there are too many Byrds in Congress."

Byrd, who has opposed many of Mr. Truman's proposals, later issued a statement in which he accused the President of "dictatorship."

This was the first time Mr. Truman has singled out a member of his party for attack since he was elected. In the first of the recent House fight over the Taft-Hartly law he threatened to withhold patronage from Democrats who had voted against his legislation but his names were mentioned.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(INS)—The House Veterans Committee today abandoned outright pension legislation and agreed on a bill to liberalize present disability and old age benefits for ex-service men of both World Wars.

The new bill, which is expected to be given final committee approval tomorrow, would in general merely enact into law present benefit regulations being followed by the V. A.

PASADENA, Cal. May 10.—(INS)—Four-year-old Larry Page, brought back from death after he had been hit by an auto Saturday, continued to cling to life today in Huntington Memorial hospital.

Larry rallied partially from his coma yesterday and started to cry after his mother, Mrs. Francis M. Page, crooned a lullaby familiar to the boy.

After the boy was hit and taken to the hospital he stopped breathing. Doctors hastily administered a powerful stimulant, coramine, into his heart and then ten minutes later he began to breathe again.

CHARGE DISMISSED

Elmo Gasaway reported today that the charge filed against him in Indianapolis a month ago for taking pictures on the street without a license, which was said to have been a violation of city ordinance No. 51, has been dismissed.

RUSS RESTORE ELECTRICITY TO WEST BERLIN

REDS BEGIN LIFTING THE BLOCKADE 40 HOURS BEFORE DEADLINE

BERLIN, May 10.—(UP)—Russian authorities began lifting the Berlin blockade 40 hours before the deadline today when they restored electric power to parts of the western sectors.

The Soviet action gave American sector housewives unrationed electricity in the middle of the morning for the first time since power rationing was forced upon western Berlin by the Soviet blockade last July 9.

Radios played and electric stoves glowed as the power flowed into American sector lines from the Soviet sector. All of Berlin's major power generating stations are in the Soviet sector.

German electric power authorities said the restoration of electricity to the western sectors would take place gradually.

Full service, such as existed before the Russians cut off the power during the first weeks of their blockade, will not be effected until some time Thursday, they said.

Restoration of power was started 40 hours before the official time set for ending the blockade—12:01 a. m. Thursday (4:01 p. m. CST Wednesday).

At that minute the first of 16 allied trains a day will begin to roll into Berlin for the first time since the Russians cut off all surface transportation 11 months ago.

The number of trains a day was set under an order by Gen. Vassily C. Chuikov, new Soviet military commander, providing that traffic regulations between the east and west zones return to the status of March 1, 1948.

The 16 trains will supply the western sectors with about 10,000 tons a day, somewhat less than the Anglo-American airlift achieved at its highest point.

All freight and passengers on the trains will be passed without restriction. However, the Russians still will retain the privilege of licensing freight shipments going westward out of Berlin.

The western mark, however, still will be banned in the Soviet zone "pending the decision on the question of currency in Berlin."

The four-lane superhighway to Berlin from the western zones will be opened at the same time as the rail line.

Political Feud Hits Headlines

WASHINGTON, May 10 (UP)—Another political feud hit the headlines today to remain awhile as President Truman and Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D., Va., squared off in battle for control of the Democratic party in the senate.

Both are professional politicians, graduated Cum Laude from rough and tumble political machines. Mr. Truman got his diploma under the teachings of the late Tom Pendergast, who was boss of Missouri Democrats until he went to jail on income tax charges.

The Senator's degree comes from his own Byrd machine which controls the Democratic party in Virginia. The bitterness which has developed between the two men was revealed yesterday in the somewhat loose talk of Gilbert Harrison, a White House visitor, who confided that Mr. Truman had said there were "too many Byrds in the Senate." It is not considered cricket to repeat presidential conversations.

Byrd thought over the comment for a bit yesterday afternoon and replied:—

"If the President means he will attempt to purge me from the Senate because I will not accept his dictatorship in matters of legislation, then I will be on hand when the purging starts. I owe my allegiance to my constituency of Virginia. So long as I remain in the Senate I will vote as my conscience dictates and to represent the wishes of my constituents."

Byrd comes up for re-election in 1952, a presidential year when Mr. Truman may also be a candidate again. Some of Byrd's sympathetic colleagues avoided the scrap when asked to comment on it today. But the lines are forming. Ultimately all on the Democratic side will have to make up their minds when the roll is called whether to vote with Byrd for economy or with Mr. Truman for more taxes and big spending.

The Senator has been sharp-shooting the Truman administration for some time just as he potted the Roosevelt administration before it. But two recent incidents evidently fired the President's feelings to the point where he would tell a White House visitor that Byrd should be bounced out of the Senate.

The first was the adverse Senate committee vote on Mr. Truman's nomination of Mon C. Wallgren to be chairman of the National Security Resources Board. Byrd voted with the Republicans to reject the nomination.

Wallgren is the President's pal. He needs a federal job of some kind if he is to stay in politics because the voters of Washington last November removed him from the governor's office in an election in which other Democrats won handsily. Mr. Truman does not take lightly any unkindness done a pal of his.

The other incident was a statement issued by Byrd last week analyzing Mr. Truman's entire program in terms of money, projects and probable results. He held Mr. Truman guilty of fiscal and social excesses. He accused him of holly. He cited a trend of government to more paternalism, regimentation and centralization, the whole accompanied by extravagant characteristics.

Byrd figured that Mr. Truman's budget of last January actually asked for a 13 1-2 per cent increase in income taxes, a hike of 50 per cent in payroll taxes and a 15 per cent boost in postal revenue. All of this was accompanied by charges of waste and inefficiency against the Executive Department. Byrd charged that too much money was being spent as pay for pressure groups—which means as a bid for votes.

That is how the feud between the two men is developing.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D., La., was among the first to line up with Byrd. He said: "A lot of Senators will be glad to roost with Byrd."

Sen. Pat McCarran, D., Nev., said he doubted Mr. Truman could lick Byrd among the Senator's home folk.

One by one the other Democrats will have to stand up and be counted as this session continues and Byrd offers the amendments which would cut federal spending by at least 10 per cent.

Ex-Bank Cashier To Face Charges

MADISON, May 10.—(UP)—A bank president's son, who gave himself up to the FBI to face charges of mishandling $175,000, sat glumly in his jail cell today and refused to talk about his escapade.

Norman T. Gill, president of the Bank of Madison, said $200,000 worth of bonds would cover the losses of John K. Gill, 44, his son and formerly the bank's assistant cashier.

The loss of his reputation as a prominent civic leader and the possible loss of his wife, who sued him for divorce when he fled, still faced Gill, however.

His wife was the only person to whom he would talk besides his lawyer. She said she didn't know whether she would go through with her plans for a divorce.

It was a "relief" to have Gill back, she said.

Gill told FBI agents that he left home the day bank auditors found errors in the books of the bank. He wanted to "think things over," he said. He wandered about the country for seven weeks.

After traveling from coast to coast, Gill told the federal agents, he decided to give himself up. He reached his home Sunday night and telephoned the FBI.

He waived a preliminary hearing before a federal commissioner and was held in lieu of $25,000 bail.

The divorce papers of Mrs. Gill were served on him in the jail cell.

Movie Star To Reign At '500'

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. May 10.—(INS)—Sultry-eyed Linda Darnell is to preside at track-side victory ceremonies at the finish of the 33rd annual 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway May 30.

Announcement that Miss Darnell, 20th Century-Fox star, would take part in the victory presentation was made today by Borg-Warner Corporation. She is to present the familiar six-foot-high Borg-Warner trophy, victory emblem which is handed along each year from winner to winner.

Miss Darnell, Mrs. Ferver's Marley in private life, starred in "Forever Amber," "Ann and the King of Siam," "A Letter to Three Wives" and other successful films. She expects to complete work on "Slattery's Hurricane" just prior to the May 30 race at Indianapolis.

The dark-haired Texas beauty was born and reared in Dallas and became a Darryl F. Zanuck protégé after a talent scout spotted her while she was a pupil in Dallas' Sunset high school.

In addition to the trophy, presented each year to the 500-mile race winner, Borg-Warner also awards a cash prize of $1200.

Looking at Life

ERICH BRANDEIS

A seventeen-year old came to see me yesterday.

"What's the matter with us?" he wanted to know.

"Everybody is picking on the 'new generation.' Everybody says we are no good and what is the country going to come to with kids being what they are today?"

"Are we really so awful? And was your generation really so much better than ours?"

I was tempted not to tell the kid the truth.

I was going to play high and mighty, preen myself and say, "Of course, we were much better than you."

But I thought for a minute, and then I told him just what I am going to tell you now.

For Pete's sake, let us stop worrying about the modern generation of youngsters.

There is nothing the matter with them.

Personally I envy them. I envy them for being able to do openly all the things that you and I did surreptitiously.

I envy them their emancipation from silly traditions.

I envy them their cocksureness; their impertinence; their condescension when we older folks lecture them; their complete confidence that they have the world by the tail and can swing it sky-high.

Take a trip in an airplane some time.

Watch the pilot, the co-pilot. Your life is in their hands. You are not afraid with them at the wheel.

Those matter-of-fact heroes of the air are just kids in their twenties--still belonging to the very generation we worry so much about.

I have been fascinated by the roller derby now going on all over the country.

Look at those youngsters some time, both the boys and the girls. Tough as nails, but unafraid. It's a joy to know that one day they'll help to run our country instead of who's doing it now.

And, by the way, speaking of running the country, do you think those awful members of the younger generation are going to do worse than what we are getting today?

Look at our 1949 statesmen! All belonging to that wonderful older generation which we set up as an example to today's youngsters.

Maybe they didn't read comic books. Maybe they never took a drink when they were young. Maybe they never heard of necking and maybe they never drove a jalopy at fifty miles an hour on a thirty-mile road.

But look at the taxes, the high prices, the strikes, the "peace" they've got us into.

If that's the kind of "generation" we are going to hold up to our youngsters as shining examples, no wonder the kids say "Nuts" and go their own way.

As far as I am concerned, the new generation is just fine.

I wish I were a kid again. I'd at least have a whole lot more fun than I did when I was a boy.

Just as a farmer cannot improve the quality of an egg after it is laid, marketing can not improve the quality of produce received from the farmer, Alexander Gordeuk, extension poultryman points out. Farmers who maintain the quality of the egg from the time it is laid until marketed usually receive higher than average prices.

INTERESTING TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sutherland, Mr. Austin Kircher and Mrs. Basil West recently returned from a visit to the Purina Research Farm at Gray Summit, Missouri, near St. Louis, where they saw practical feeding and management operations designed to help farmers produce more meat, milk and eggs from their own farms.

On the Purina Research Farm of 738 acres, the newest ration and method of feeding were explained to them and other visitors on the tour. Some of the many results of the Purina Program of feeding, breeding, management and sanitation which were pointed out, were dairy heifers ready for breeding at 12 to 15 months; sows from which an average of well over 17 fat hogs a year have been marketed; and broilers that grew to an average of 3 to 3 1/2 pounds at 11 weeks of age on only 10 pounds of feed.

A banquet was held at the Ralston Purina Company in St. Louis in honor of the visitors. They were also taken for tours of the Purina Chow Hill and the Purina Research Laboratories.

Calf, Lamb Club Entries Are Due

All nominations for the Gold Medal Junior Calf and Lamb Clubs are due in the Extension Division of the Animal Husbandry department at Purdue University on or before May 15, according to announcement made by Henry Mayo, Purdue extension specialist in animal husbandry.

"Junior calves" are those born during the first four months of 1949, Mr. Mayo states. Calves born in 1948 were nominated in the period from Jan. 1 to Feb. 15, 1949. The total nominations of calves will be well above the 4,000 mark this year, according to predictions made by W. T. Anderson of the Purdue animal husbandry staff.

In general, the lamb crop throughout the state is reported as good with the lambs strong and a high proportion of the lambs born have been saved. One division of the Gold Medal Lamb Club includes commercial flocks and in this division, medals are awarded on the basis of weight at four months of age.

Membership is open to all cattle and sheep producers in Indiana and rules and nomination cards may be obtained in the office of the county agricultural agent.

INSECTICIDES MUST BE USED WITH CAUTION

Much publicity has been given to the possible dangers to honeybees from the use of new insecticides, such as DDT, chlordane, toxaphene and others, has aroused unwarranted fears, according to Prof. J. J. Davis, head of the entomology department of the Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station.

Arsenicals, such as have been used on orchard and vegetable crops, offer potential danger to bees more than do the new insecticides and yet there has been no serious losses, according to Prof. Davis. The beekeeper, the entomologist and the fruit grower realize the danger to bees when arsenicals or other stomach poisons are used when fruit trees are in bloom. This has resulted in the universal adoption of recommendations to avoid spraying with such materials when trees are in bloom. Fruit growers recognize their dependence on bees for pollination and are just as eager to protect them as is the beekeeper. Therefore, they follow the spraying recommendations religiously.

"When the new insecticides, with recognition of their potency against insects were first introduced, there was much anxiety among entomologists as to their possible effect on bees," Prof. Davis says. "But as we learn more about these insecticides and how they are to be used, it is becoming increasingly evident that most of the fear is unwarranted."

He adds that it is not unlikely that some of the new organic insecticides will be recommended for control of legume seed infesting insects in the near future. He emphasizes that studies already are rather conclusive that these new chemicals will not harm our necessary bees, providing care is taken in making the applications before the plants bloom, and that it is further recognized that spraying or dusting during the blooming period is not necessary to destroy the seed infesting insects.

"Briefly then," Prof. Davis says, "entomologists are well aware of the need and importance of honeybees and the importance of avoiding the use of insecticides that will harm them. Our problem is to use methods which will destroy harmful insects and protect beneficial kinds. That is the aim of all recommendations."

BIKINI SURVIVOR 'MUSTERED OUT'

THIS "LITTLE" PIG went to Bikini, not to market, and now she's being given by Navy to the Washington zoo so visitors can see a live survivor of an atom bomb. She's famed Pig 311, and was locked in washroom of Jap cruiser Sakawa on June 30, 1946, near center of explosion. She weighed 50 pounds. A day later, after the Sakawa sank with all hooves, she was found swimming in Bikini lagoon. Now, nearly three years later, she weighs 600 pounds. Scientists who studied her all that time don't know whether it was the explosion which made her unable to have little pigs, or whether she was that way already. The one with her is a descendant of another survivor of the Bikini bomb tests. (International)

Red Aim: Railroad: ANNOUNCES BERLIN BLOCKADE END

THE COMMUNISTS stressed special need for getting railroad workers into the party for "a successful revolution," Thomas A. Younglove, St. Louis, Mo., testified at conspiracy trial of 11 top U. S. PROPER WIRING SERVES AS SYSTEM BACKBONE

The most important single element in the successful electrification of any farm is its wiring system. No matter how well designed and carefully selected the farmer's electrical equipment may be, the appliances cannot serve him effectively unless the farm wiring system allows them to be used where they are most needed and provides the proper voltage required for efficient operation. C. H. Lowrey, Purdue University extension agricultural engineer, points out.

Many farmers, however, continue to install only a minimum wiring system, thinking that this saves money. They apparently do not understand that so-called "cheap" wiring installation actually costs money every day.

The wiring on the farm is the backbone of proper use and value of electrical equipment. Appliances and productive tools work best if electricity flows through the right size wire and through the right kind of outlets.

There are 300 or more uses of electricity for jobs on farms and in the farm home. In order that the electric servants do their jobs on the farms and in the farm home, one must have good wiring from the meter to each and every electrical device.

The use of one electrical servant generally leads to another. If the wiring proves too small for the added servants, present wiring must be removed and replaced with larger wires. Planning wiring ahead saves money, Mr. Lowrey emphasizes.

The advantages of adequate wiring for the farmer, according to Mr. Lowrey, are as follows: Increased safety for his family, livestock and property, economical first cost, low maintenance expense and minimum obsolescence; increased life for electrical equipment; substantial savings in labor costs and convenience in farming and living resulting in savings of time and effort.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

FROM Delos Avery comes a story of the legendary Ying-Nu, who was husband to a hundred beautiful wives. For a time, all was bliss in the house then a tragic day arrived.

"One of you incredibly lovely ladies," he announced to them sadly from his golden throne, "apparently has been betraying my secrets to my enemies. It would break my heart to discover which one it is. I must let the somewhat harsh law take its course. Let each tenth one of you come forth, for ten must die."

But when Ying-Nu beheld the tears of the ten and observed their reluctance to have their heads chopped off, his stern features relaxed. "No, no," he cried. "It shall not be! Am I not known as a man of some compassion? There shall be no feast with wine and music. Come!" And Ying-Nu gently led ten away, whispering softly to the executioner as he passed with the heads of the other ninety!
